2024 Land Classification Working Group

Does the acreage qualify as a Nonproductive Patented Mining Claim?

15-6-133 MCA, ARM 42.20.302 and ARM 42.20.305

→ YES → An approved application is required

↓

NO

↓

Are there 15 or more acres of qualified forest land? 15-44-102, MCA

→ YES → Is there a residence on the forested acres?

→ YES → All acreage is classified as forest land, with the one acre homesite receiving a market value.

↓

NO → All acreage is classified as forest land.

↓ (from "Are there 15 or more acres")

NO

↓

Does the acreage meet agricultural land qualifications? 15-7-202, MCA

→ YES → Is there a residence?

→ YES → All acreage is classified as agricultural land, with the one acre homesite receiving an agricultural value.

↓

NO → All acreage is classified as agricultural land.

↓ (from "Does the acreage meet agricultural land qualifications?")

NO

↓

Is the acreage 20 to less than 160?

→ YES → Is there a residence?

→ YES → All acreage is classified as non-qualified agricultural land, with the one acre homesite receiving a market value.

↓

NO → All acreage is classified as non-qualified agricultural land.

↓ (from "Is the acreage 20 to less than 160?")

NO

↓

Is the acreage less than 20, and does not meet agricultural land qualifications?

↓

YES

↓

All acreage is classified as residential, commercial, or industrial land, and receives a market value.
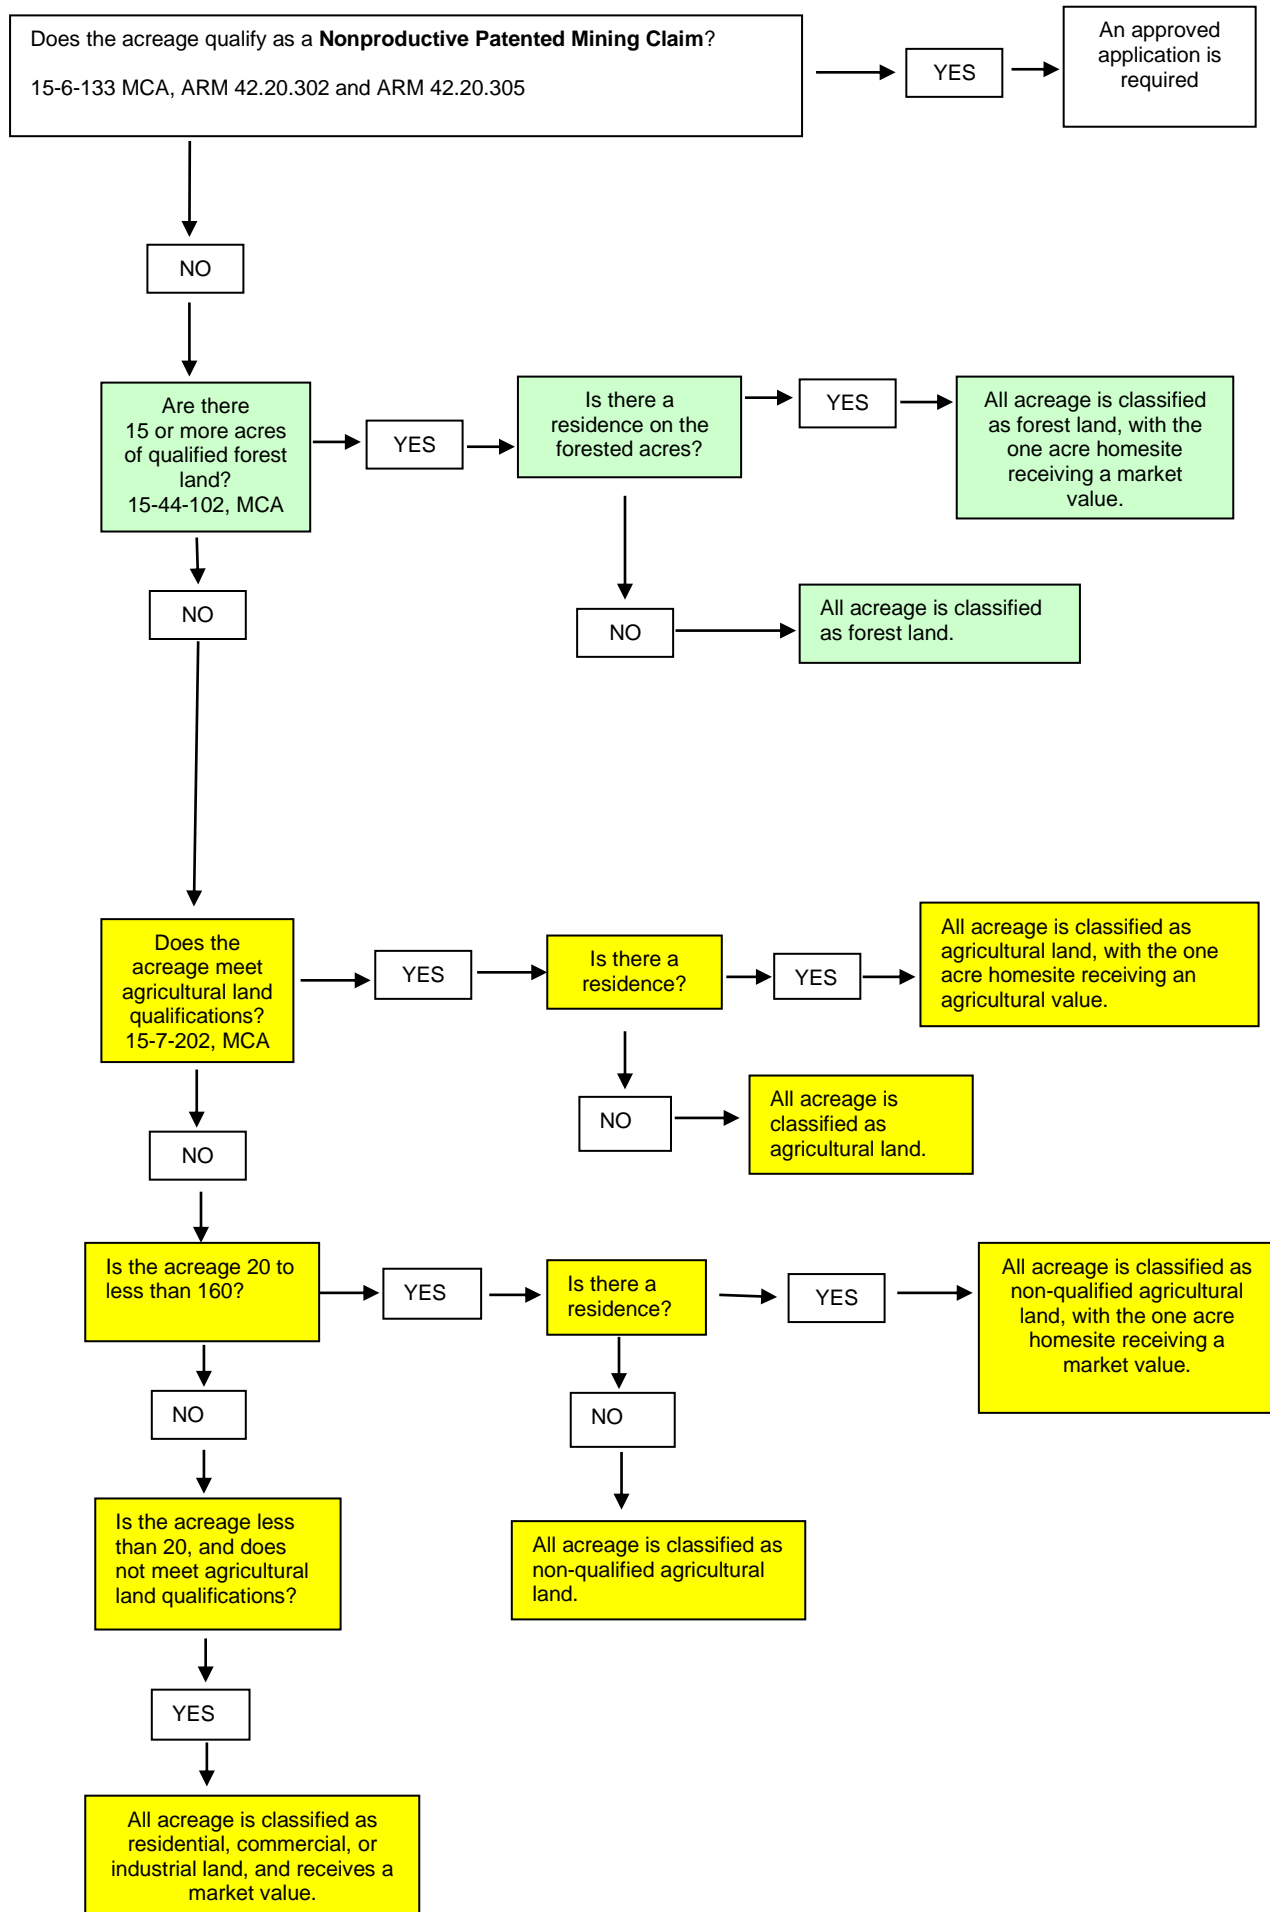

This flow chart is a high level representation of land classifications used by the department for demonstration purposes for the Land Classification Working Group only.